

Entoblitz 2016

Eagle Bluff Ranch in Texas Hill Country, Medina County, TX
April 22nd-24th

Entoblitz welcomes anyone interested in learning more about insect diversity within the state of Texas. Join us on this private parcel of land for a weekend of collecting, photography, friends, and fun!

Lodging: primitive camping on-site (two toilets) – bring your own tents or book a hotel reservation in near-by Hondo or Bandera (suggestions on website)

Supplies and food: you're on your own except for Sat. night dinner and Sun. morning breakfast – included for a fee (TBD). Campfires can be made and please bring out what you bring in.

Visit: the Entoblitz 2016 planning page at entoblitz.tamu.edu for more details and updates

RSVP: Derek A. Woller (asilid@gmail.com) if you plan to attend – please indicate if you're interested in buying the dinner/breakfast package

Organized by: the Texas A&M University Entomology Graduate Student Organization (EGSO) and the Undergraduate Entomology Student Organization (UESO)
